Greenwich Scouting's 25th annual golf tournament took place at Round Hill Club on an incredible September day. As the organization's largest fundraising event, the proceeds from the tournament directly benefit the programs and services provided for nearly 2,500 local youth annually. This year's event featured a million dollar hole-in-one contest. Following the tournament, attendees enjoyed cocktails on the veranda and bid on a variety of silent auction items. News reporter Larry Hoff served as master of ceremonies. Jim Dean and Perry Burns were co-chairs for the tournament again this year; Both Dean and Burns are longtime Greenwich Scouting board members and Greenwich residents.
